DEDICATION

. . . to William Lowe Bryan

EVERY INSTITUTION must have its guiding personality, its nucleus about which are gathered the brilliant tangents which serve to illuminate the whole. As William Lowe Bryan has dedicated his life to the higher education and culture of youth at Indiana, so this volume, portraying his handiwork, is dedicated to him in like manner. As ancient Greece reached its Golden Age under the Periclean rule, so Indiana, largely through Dr. Bryan's efforts, has acquired a place among the finest of the state universities in America. But it is not for these things alone that this volume is dedicated to Dr. Bryan, but also because:

*"His life 'is' gentle, and the elements
So mixed in him that Nature might stand up
And say to all the world, 'This 'is' a man!'"*

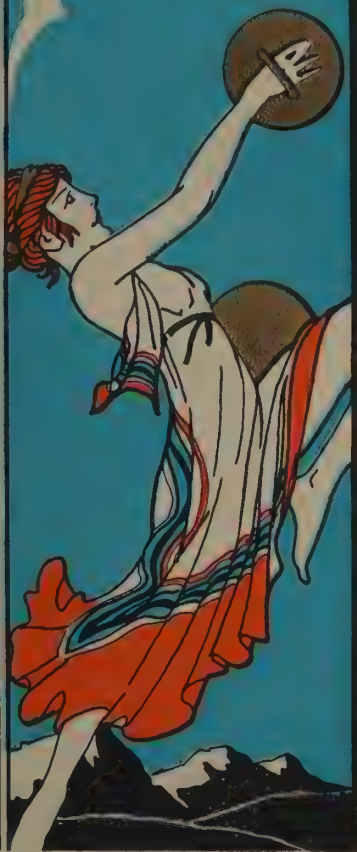

ART THEME

NO OTHER PERIOD in civilized history eclipses the grandeur of the Golden Age of Greece. The cultured splendor of this magnificent period, its refined beauty, and its poetic richness have admirably lent themselves to the portrayal of the dawn of another Golden Age—at Indiana. To the college student this ancient era symbolizes the zenith of individual perfection, for he has transposed its ideals and rituals into his Greek letter fraternity. Just as art characterized this glorious age so it is essential to our present progress, and thus the many color plates and black and white etchings of this volume are presented, the latter being of original student creation.

FOREWORD

THIS VOLUME of the Arbutus is more than a mere chronicle of the events and people of our campus during the past year—it is the 108th chapter of a much greater record, the history of Indiana University. Recent events at our school have been memorable. A great building program, changes and improvements in all departments, and the many honors that have come to the University and its children have all served to produce a finer and richer harmony of the whole. It truly signifies the birth of a greater Indiana, while ahead lies a broad, roseate future with a goal that leads us ever onward.

WOULD EXCHANGE all the immediate definite things I desire for Indiana University for the devotion of our undergraduates and other young men and women of Indiana to the future ideal University which our state should have. Just what it would be they would discover.

It would, I think, be physically splendid as Athens was splendid, but more than that.

It would, I believe, be a source of enlightenment and guidance for a great industrial civilization, but something more than that.

It would be a place "habitable by scholars" and by artists, home of learning, home of beauty and something more.

It would be a good community of good men and good women—a good world in little—a living answer to the prayer, Thy Kingdom Come.

But let youth dream its own dream, not mine—if only noble dream becomes complete devotion to the making of the University which our Indiana should be. A company of such persons with such an ideal and such devotion is the University.

William Lowe Bryan

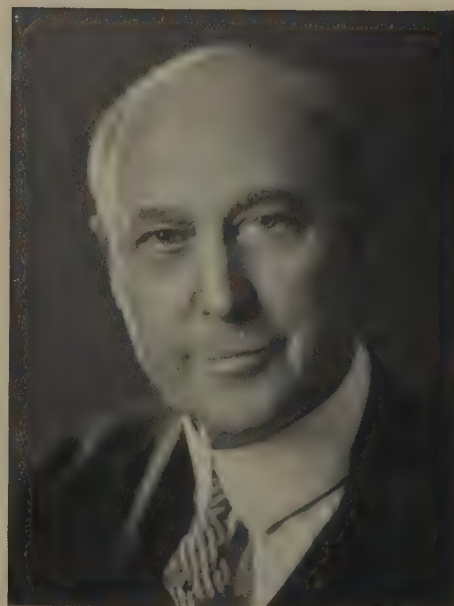

John W. Cravens
Registrar

INDIANA UNIVERSITY has the distinction of having a registrar who has served one of the longest terms of any registrar in an American university. John William Cravens, registrar and secretary of the University, received a B. S. degree from Central Normal College in 1884; an A. B. degree from Indiana in 1897, and an A. M. degree in 1920. Through his activity in the largest administrative office in the University, where he comes into contact with students, members of the faculty, university officials, and the public, Mr. Cravens has been instrumental in establishing the feeling of good will which the university enjoys.

Registrar and Bursar

THIRTY-ONE YEARS of service to Indiana University Ulysses Howe Smith has given to originating and perfecting the intricate financial and accounting system of the University. The offices of the department in Maxwell Hall comprise the banking center of the institution, the connection between the outside financial agents and the student. The bursar and his staff control the financial administration of University activities and direct the commercial affairs of many groups and organizations on the campus, in addition to the countless contacts with the individual student. Mr. Smith received an A. B. degree from Indiana University as a member of the class of 1893.

U. H. Smith
Bursar

THE OFFICE of dean of men was first established at Indiana University in 1919. Since then Clarence E. Edmondson has held this position. He received an A. B. degree at the University in 1906, an A. M. in 1912, and a Ph. D. degree in 1914. He is Professor of Hygiene. It is through him that the scholastic, moral, and social welfare of men students is promoted. By personal conferences with students and through conferences and correspondence with parents much has been done in bringing about a friendly, helpful relationship between faculty, students and parents.

Clarence E. Edmondson
Dean of Men

Deans of Men

Charles J. Sembower
Dean of Men

CHARLES JACOB SEMBOWER is not only dean of men but a friend to everyone. Never too busy to help students in solving their problems and to give his advice, he has made himself well known and liked by all connected with the University. He received an A. B. degree from Indiana University in 1892 and a Ph. D. degree at the University of Pennsylvania in 1909. He is Professor of English in the University as well as an author of note, having written several books on literature. He is also a spokesman of the faculty in many student gatherings.

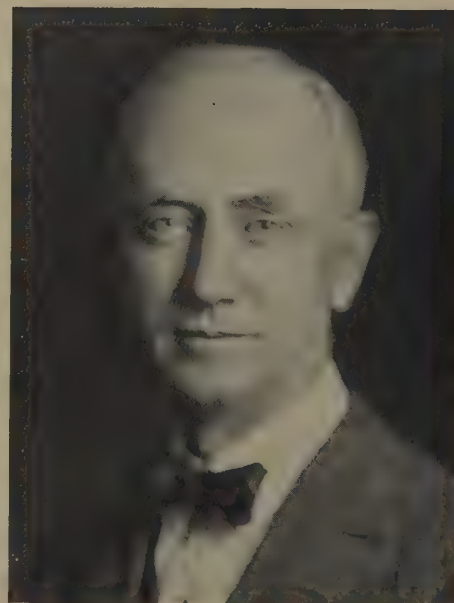

D. A. Rothrock
Dean College of Arts and Sciences

IN HIS ROLE of extending a welcome to new students, David Andrew Rothrock shares with S. E. Stout the duties of the deans of the College of Arts and Sciences. The admission and classification of students coming directly from high school and those coming from other universities has been the chief activity of this department for the past ten years. In addition to his duties as dean, Dr. Rothrock is a mathematician of note, and the author of several textbooks on the subject. He received an A. B. degree from Indiana University in 1892; and an A. M. degree in 1895. After a year of study in Germany he received a Ph. D. degree from the University of Leipzig in 1898.

Arts and Sciences

ONE OF THE DEANS of the largest and oldest school of the group of schools in the University is Selatie Edgar Stout, who shares with Mr. David Rothrock the important duties of the head of the College of Arts and Sciences. Dean Stout, professor of Latin, received a B. S. degree from Grand River College in 1891, and an A. B. degree from William Jewell College in 1901. Dr. Stout received his Ph. D. degree from Princeton University in 1910. He first became associated with Indiana University in 1914 as head of the Department of Latin, assuming his present duties as Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences in 1920.

S. E. Stout
Dean College of Arts and Sciences

"To FOSTER an atmosphere which will be conducive to good scholarship and to help girls develop into fine women" has been the chief aim of Agnes E. Wells, dean of women. She has been connected with the University since 1918. During these fourteen years she has always been a friend to both organized and unorganized women, doing all in her power to create a homelike atmosphere, to make living conditions better, and to assist in plans for the coed's life and activities.

Dean Wells received an A. B. from the University of Michigan in 1903, an A. M. from Carleton College in 1916, and a Ph. D. from the University of Michigan in 1924. A gradual expansion of the office of the dean of women has been made during her stay at the University.

Agnes E. Wells
Dean of Women

Deans of Women

Lydia Woodbridge
Assistant Dean of Women

"To AID the dean of women in her attempt to hold the girls to a high scholarship record, and to preserve for her information which is not available from any other source" is in general the work of Lydia Dudley Woodbridge, assistant dean of women since 1926. She is closely associated with women of the University as director of many of their activities.

She is also an assistant professor of French. She received a B. L. degree at Mt. Holyoke College in 1897 and an A. M. degree at the University of Wisconsin in 1916.

Law School, Maxwell Hall

Paul V. McNutt

PAUL VORIES McNUTT in his capacity of Dean of the Law School has added much to the prestige of the University by his nation-wide recognition, being connected with many organizations and having received countless other honors and degrees. He received his A. B. degree from this institution and the LL. B. degree from Harvard University. Becoming a member of the faculty of the Law School in 1917, he was installed as dean of the school in 1925.

Law and Medicine

BURTON DORR MYERS, professor of anatomy, heads the School of Medicine at Bloomington. He received the Ph. B. degree at Buchtel College in 1893, and in 1902 he received an M. D. degree from the University of Leipzig in Germany. Dr. Myers' first connection with the faculty of the Medical School was in 1903, when he occupied the position of associate professor of anatomy. In 1920 he was appointed to the position of Dean, which he now occupies.

Burton D. Myers

School of Medicine, Owen Hall

Commerce Hall

W. A. Rawles

THE SCHOOL OF COMMERCE AND FINANCE, whose Dean is William A. Rawles, is one of the newest schools in the University and steadily is gaining a reputation among commerce schools of the country. He received his A. B. and A. M. degrees from Indiana University, and his Ph. D. degree from Columbia University. His connection with Indiana began in 1894, when he served as instructor of history. In 1920 he was appointed as head of the Commerce School.

Commerce and Music

BARZILLE WINFRED MERRILL has been the highly successful dean of the School of Music because of his own great enthusiasm and dynamic energy. Graduated from the Gottschalk School of Music, he was professor of music at the Iowa State Teachers' College from 1909 to 1919. Affiliating with Indiana University in 1919, he was appointed dean of the Music School. Dean Merrill is conductor of the University orchestra and has charge of the program of the University music series.

B. Winfred Merrill

Mitchell Hall

Willis D. Gatch
Dean School of Medicine

DR. W. D. GATCH, acting dean of the Indiana University School of Medicine has been responsible for the many advances made this year in the progress of the school. Dr. Gatch has been professor of surgery at Indianapolis since 1911, and was appointed acting dean in 1931. He is a visiting surgeon at the Indianapolis and University hospitals and a fellow of the American College of Surgeons. He holds memberships in the Western Surgery Association and the American Medical Association.

Dr. Gatch is a native of Indiana, having been born at Aurora in 1878. He received his A. B. from Indiana University in 1901, and his M. D. from Johns Hopkins in 1907. For four years after his graduation he was a resident surgeon at Johns Hopkins Hospital, and then transferred to the Washington University Hospital, where he remained until he became connected with Indiana University.

Indianapolis Medical Center

DR. E. T. THOMPSON is administrator of Indiana University School of Medicine and Hospitals at Indianapolis. He received an M. D. degree at Manitoba Medical College in 1923. He has held his position as administrator of the School of Medicine since 1928. Dr. Thompson was assistant superintendent at the Ancker Hospital from 1925 to 1928 before his appointment to the Indiana Medical Center.

Dr. E. T. Thompson, as administrator of the Indiana University School of Medicine and Hospitals in Indianapolis, presides over the business affairs of the Medical Center. His various duties include the business management of help and the admission of patients.

Dr. E. T. Thompson

FREDERICK RICH HENSHAW is dean of the School of Dentistry located at Indianapolis. He has occupied this position since 1914. Due to his efforts, the School of Dentistry has steadily gone forward until now it is rated class "A" by the Dental Educational Council of America.

Doctor Henshaw received a D. D. S. degree at Indiana Dental College in 1897 and a F. A. C. D. at the American College of Dentists in 1922. He served as dean throughout the duration of the World War and at present holds the rank of Colonel in the Dental Reserve Corps. Last year he was elected president of the American Association of Dental Schools for the ensuing year.

Frederick R. Henshaw
Dean School of Dentistry

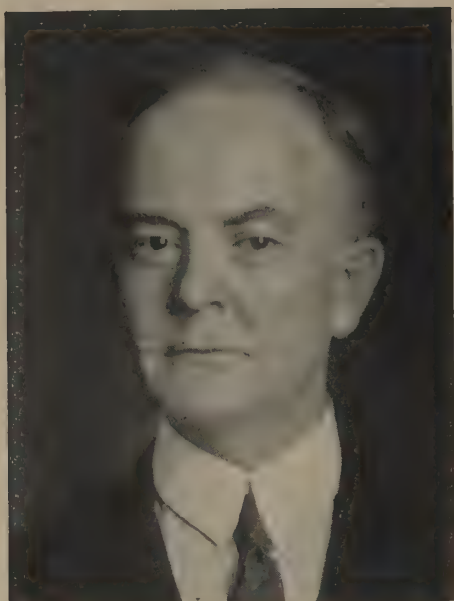

Dental and Nurses Training

Miss Josephine Hull
Director Nurses Training School

JOSEPHINE HULL has been acting-director of Indiana University School for Nurses since September, 1931. She received an A. B. degree from Allegheny College in 1900, and an G. N. degree from Buffalo General Hospital Training School for Nurses in 1909.

Her work as acting-director includes responsibility for proper nursing care of the patients in the University Hospitals and direction of the educational program and activities of the School for Nurses.

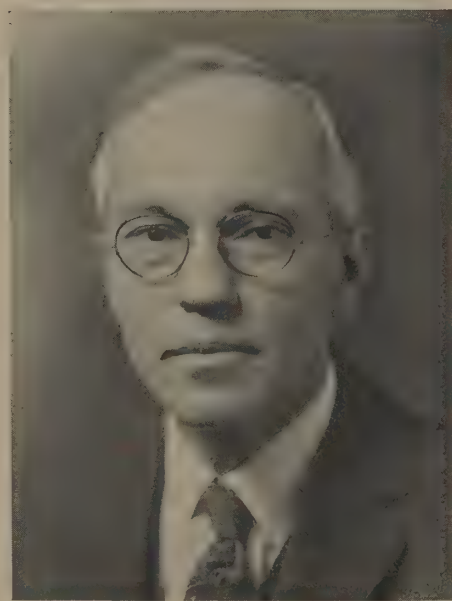

W. A. Alexander
Librarian

A WELL-KNOWN and prominent figure on the campus is W. A. Alexander, University Librarian. He has held this position since 1921. During this time he has been active on all drives on the campus and has served as both advisor and director in the Student Interests' campaigns. Since his appointment as head of the Library, that department of the University has grown in size and equipment until it is now one of the best of its kind in the country.

Mr. Alexander was registrar and dean of Swarthmore College from 1904 to 1921 before his appointment here. He received his A. B. degree from Indiana University.

Library and Graduate School

BY MAINTAINING the high standard of the graduate body, the Graduate School, consisting of members of the University faculty of professorial rank who devote their time to research or training students in methods of research, has done much to establish the enviable reputation of Indiana University. Fernandus Payne, who is dean of the Graduate School, is the head of the Graduate Council, the governing body of the Graduate School. Dr. Payne received an A. B. degree from Indiana University in 1905, and an A. M. in 1906; and his Ph. D. degree from Columbia University in 1909. The dean is nationally known for his research in zoology, of which he is a professor in the University.

Fernandus Payne
Dean Graduate School

HENRY LESTER SMITH is dean of the School of Education, one of the oldest schools in the University. He received an A. B. degree from Indiana University in 1898, an A. M. from Columbia University in 1910, and a Ph. D. in 1918. Aside from directing the School of Education, he is also in charge of the summer school session of the University, and Director of the Bureau of Co-operative Research.

H. L. Smith
Dean School of Education

Education and Extension

R. E. Cavanaugh
Director of Extension Division

ROBERT E. CAVANAUGH is director of the Extension Division. He received an A. B. degree from Indiana University in 1908 and an A. M. degree from the University of Chicago in 1909.

The Extension Division was established at Indiana University in 1912. Since then it has been a public service institution for all Hoosiers. Through its centers at Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, and Gary, and its correspondence study bureau the Extension does much to "carry the university to the people."

Frank R. Elliott
University Publicity Director

THE PUBLICITY DEPARTMENT of Indiana University is under the direction of Frank Reel Elliott. For almost eleven years Mr. Elliott has held this position and has sent news of Indiana University — its activities and services — to people of the state. It is through this department that news from every department of the University is disseminated.

Mr. Elliott received both A. B. and A. M. degrees from Indiana University and was graduated with distinction. Under his management the publicity department has grown rapidly.

Publicity and Publications

IVY LEONE CHAMNESS is director of the University Publications, one of the largest administrative departments of the school and an active medium of publicity of the University. It is under her direction that official publications are compiled, edited and sometimes written. Before 1921, when she accepted this position at the University, she was employed by an Indianapolis publishing company. She received an A. B. degree from Indiana University and is a member of the Indiana Women's Press Club.

Ivy Chamness
Director University Publications

WARD G. BIDDLE, who has been manager of the Indiana University Bookstore since 1923, and has long been connected with student activities and is a well-known figure on the campus, has the honor of being the first director of the new Indiana Memorial Union. He has always been foremost among contributors to student funds. Mr. Biddle received an A. B. degree from Indiana University in 1916. He is President of the National College Bookstore Association.

The Indiana University Bookstore has for forty-two years been one of the chief aids to students. It has been rated as one of the best-managed stores in the country and is a member of the National College Bookstore Association. For the past several years it has been located in the small, picturesque, brown building in the heart of the campus, but this year, however, it has been moved into its beautiful new location in the east end of the new Union Building.

Ward G. Biddle
Director of Indiana Memorial Union and Manager of Bookstore

Union, Bookstore and Alumni

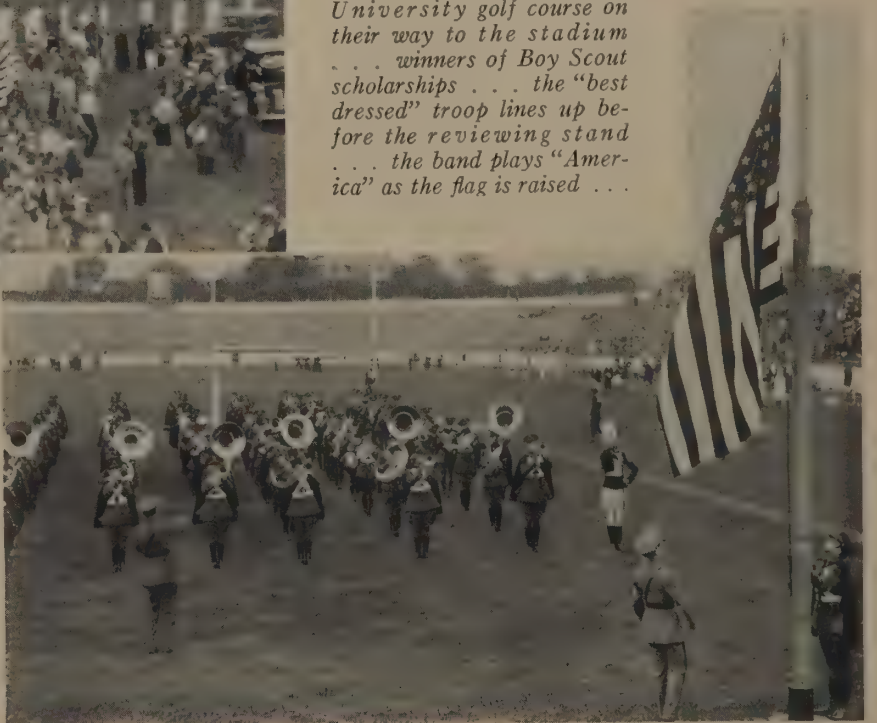

George Heighway
Alumni Secretary

"THE ALUMNI OFFICE at Indiana University is operated to maintain a contact between the University and its alumni for mutual benefit." George F. Heighway has been alumni secretary for the past six years. During this time he has been active among student organizations, and has been one of the leaders in campus drives and in arranging Homecoming festivities. He has been affiliated actively in Student Interest drives through his connection with the University alumni and also was a leader in the organization of the Students-Parents Association. Mr. Heighway holds an L. L. B. degree from this University.

OF ALL THE ELECTIONS that of the junior class was the most heated. Morris McDaniels and Charles Harrell were chosen president and vice-president, respectively, of the class. Other officers are Marjorie Jones, treasurer, and Margaret Scudder, secretary.

Mary Wisheart, as Queen of the Junior Prom, led the grand march to the strains of Isham Jones's sixteen-piece orchestra. Charles Harrell was chairman of the event. The members of his committee were E. Gayle Fitzsimmons, Dorothy Haynes, Josephine Archbold, Lawrence Philpott and Joseph Eichhorn.

Sophomores and Junior Laws

A LARGE sophomore vote was cast this year with the new Coalition coming out ahead. The candidates who won the election are: William Gordon, president; Bob Christman, vice-president; Howard Busching, secretary, and Gene Portteus, treasurer.

At the annual elections during the first semester Irvin H. Rosenthal was chosen president of the Junior Law Class, that group of men so far from the green cap period but just as far from the judge's bench. Other officers of the group are: George Glass, vice-president; Robert J. Hyatt, secretary, and Sol Rothberg, treasurer.

Freshman and Frosh Laws

THE LAST of the class elections created enough excitement to last the freshmen through four years of college. The officers of the class who emerged victorious are: Elbert Julian, president; Edmund Ortmeyer, vice-president; Betty Ann Brown, secretary, and Helene Smith, treasurer.

The freshman in Law School leads a dual life—he is important on the steps of Maxwell Hall, but he isn't even noticed inside. Phil Byron was chosen to lead this year's freshman law class through the young and tender age. Other officers are: Eugene Strahlim, vice-president; Edward DeLaney, secretary, and Edward Lay, treasurer.

The Athletic Board of Control

Too MUCH CREDIT cannot be given to the members of Indiana's Athletic Board of Control. This group of twelve men, consisting of faculty members and three alumni, co-operates with the Athletic Director, Z. G. Clevenger, in furthering the building projects of the Department of Athletics, and it is largely responsible for Indiana University's clean sportsmanship.

The Board is headed by Dr. William J. Moenkhaus, who also is faculty representative of the Western Conference. This year, under the leadership of Dr. Moenkhaus, the Board has furthered the development of the school's athletic plant.

With the appointment of Wallace E. Marks, formerly of Chicago University, as freshman football and basketball coach this fall, the group completed the roster of the new coaching staff.

Pictures of Dr. Moenkhaus and Prof. Henry T. Stephenson, eleventh and twelfth members of the board, do not appear on this page.

Zora G. Clevenger
Director of Athletics

AS ATHLETIC DIRECTOR of Indiana University, Z. G. Clevenger has, during the nine years of service, organized a new coaching staff which is without peer in the Western Conference. With the assistance of the Athletic Board of Control, he has successfully guided Indiana athletic teams to a prominence that has not been surpassed in the history of the school.

During twenty-five years of coaching and administration in the Big Ten, Missouri Valley and Southern conferences, Clevenger has enjoyed more than two decades of conspicuous success. William D. Ramsey, assistant to the director of athletics, is instrumental in managing the office and promoting co-operation between the faculty and the athletic representatives of the University.

Coach E. C. Hayes
Football and Track

E. C. HAYES, head coach of football, track and cross-country, came to Indiana in 1924. He has developed Hoosier athletic teams in the latter two sports which never fail to gain recognition as titleholders or dangerous contenders for Conference and national honors, and since his appointment as head football coach in January, 1931, Coach Hayes has coached the Hoosier grid machine into a place where it is feared in Big Ten circles. The Indiana cross-country team won the National A. A. U. hill-and-dale title in the fall of 1931, after it had triumphed for the fourth consecutive year in the Western Conference cross-country meet, while the 1931 Hayes-coached track and field combination was ranked by critics as one of the five greatest in the entire country.

Wally Marks, a three-letter athlete of the University of Chicago, has assumed the responsibility of grounding thoroughly in fundamentals freshman aspirants in football, basketball and baseball. Paul Harrell, former Hoosier star, is assistant coach in football and baseball. A. J. "Butch" Nowack, former all-American guard and Illinois grid captain, coaches Indiana's line. Bill Ramsey, an important gear in the athletic plant, serves as assistant to the director of athletics.

William H. Thom, head wrestling coach, assistant football coach and freshman track coach since 1927 when he joined the coaching staff, built up grappling teams that have improved steadily each season. In 1929 the Hoosier matmen won third place in the Big Ten, and the following year Illinois barely edged out the Thommen for the Conference title. But in 1931 and again in 1932 a great aggregation of Hoosier wrestlers made a clean sweep of the season schedules to win the Conference title for two years in succession.

As head coach of basketball and baseball, Everett S. Dean has for the last eight years boosted unusually successful Crimson athletic teams to a prominence achieved

Bob Correll is assistant varsity hardwood mentor, while Paul Jasper, Ben Mankowski, Paul Balay and James Goodman assist in football.

Since assuming directorship of Intramural athletics in 1916, Prof. George E. Schlafer has reorganized completely interfraternity athletics, and has increased the participation of students in this branch of athletics from 10 per cent to nearly 60 per cent of the male student body. Schlafer recently was elected president of the Western Conference of physical educators. Ralph Esary and Robert Royer are varsity tennis and swimming coaches, respectively, Karl Bookwalter is the assistant in physical education, while Sid Robinson, former Olympic star, is assistant varsity track and cross-country coach and freshman track mentor.

Football, 1931

NINETEEN HUNDRED THIRTY-TWO marked the beginning of a new regime in Hoosier football. Coach E. C. Hayes took over the gridiron reins and patiently began instituting his style of play. Although the football team was not a Conference title contender, it gradually "got the hang" of the new system and proved its mettle against Northwestern and in capturing the charity tournament.

With only six seniors graduating, Indiana will have twenty-four lettermen eligible for competition next year in addition to a galaxy of promising freshmen stars. Graduating seniors are: Charles Baer, halfback; Art Thomas, end and halfback; Joe Zeller, guard; Vic Dauer, quarterback; John Banka, halfback, and Ambrose Rascher, tackle. Fred Squires, senior manager, also was awarded an honorary letter.

With the many veterans returning to the fold next year and with one year's background under Coach Hayes, the Crimson horde is expected to land in the upper division of the Conference next fall.

One of the most outstanding features of the 1931 grid machine was the work of the line. A. J. Nowack, former all-American tackle from Illinois, took charge of the forward wall and made it one of the most feared in the Big Ten.

Jones and Edmonds proved themselves to be among the best punters in the Conference and in practically every game the Hoosiers' kicking average overshadowed that of their opponents.

Paul Harrell and W. H. Thom were other assistant coaches, Harrell spending most of the time with the backs and the kickers.

Indiana 7, Ohio University 6

THE CRIMSON HORDE opened its grid campaign with a 7-6 victory over the powerful Ohio University squad. The Buckeyes had been undefeated for more than two years and boasted a victory chain of nineteen wins. Indiana was the first to score, garnering its points in the third quarter. After Saluski and Sawicki worked the ball down the field by a series of plunges and lateral passes, Edmonds heaved the pigskin eight yards to Lyons for a touch-down. Edmonds also kicked goal for the extra point. Ohio University managed to score its points in the fourth quarter when two Buckeye players fell on the ball behind the goal line where it had bounded when Edmonds' punt had been blocked.

AFTER HOLDING Notre Dame's national grid champions scoreless until late in the second quarter, the Hoosiers gave way before the Irish's constant stream of fresh substitutions, and were conquered, 25-0. Sheeketski provided the thrill of the day with a 72-yard run on a perfectly executed play. Gorman and Cronin also had scoring roles for the Irish. Indiana proved itself superior to the visitors in punting, out-averaging the Irishmen, 41 yards to 33. Saluski made most of the ground gains for the Crimson. The game, representing the initial appearance of the Notre Dame eleven since the death of its famous coach, Knute Rockne, was dedicated to him.

THE HOOSIERS trekked to Iowa City for their first Conference game, which ended in a 0-0 deadlock. It was homecoming day for the Hawkeyes, and they did everything in their power to present their alumni with a victory. The Crimson defense worked quite satisfactorily, but the offense seemed to have lost its scoring punch. The Hoosiers also were hampered by the lack of sufficient reserve material. Edmonds and Jones did much to make up for offensive weaknesses by outdistancing the Hawks in punting.

INDIANA came into its own offensively against Chicago, and its 32 points were the most piled up by any Crimson eleven against the "Maroons" in the last decade. The Hoosiers' passing offense clicked and combined with an excellent running attack, 30 first downs were made. The Crimson started their scoring in the second quarter with Jones plunging over the tally line. Lyons and Saluski each scored touchdowns, while Edmonds accounted for two. Three of the touchdowns were made in the fourth quarter. Opasik's throwing exhibition was largely responsible for the clicking of the Crimson passing barrage. Temple made the Maroon points on a buck after two 40-yard passes had been completed.

INDIANA DROPPED its homecoming encounter to Ohio State, 13-6, when the Buckeyes converted two intercepted passes into touchdowns. Indiana's touchdown came in the opening minutes of play when Jones plunged over the scoring strip after a pass, completed by Opasik and V. Dauer, had placed the ball in the danger zone. Cramer, flashy Buckeye quarterback, tallied both touchdowns for the visitors, the last being a 70-yard gallop behind perfect interference. The work of the sophomore linemen, Kuss, Anglemeyer, Stevenson and Nylec, was the most gratifying feature of the Crimson performance.

MICHIGAN made only five first downs, but the co-Conference champs took advantage of their breaks to stack up a 22-0 victory over the Hoosiers. The Wolverines started tallying after the first few minutes of play, when Jones' punt was blocked and a safety scored. Following this, a long run by Hudson and a 20-yard sprint by Fay furnished the Wolverines with a touchdown. Passes from Newman to Hewitt and Williamson gave the champions additional points. Indiana's chief threat to score was abruptly halted in the second quarter by Morrison, all-American center, who intercepted a Crimson pass.

INDIANA lost a heart-breaking 7-6 battle to the famous Northwestern co-Conference eleven. Although hardly figured to give the Wildcats more than an easy workout, the Crimson outgained the Purple machine in yardage and narrowly missed tying the count when Vic Dauer's placement kick hit the goal post and bounced down, falling on the "wrong" side by a margin of only a few feet. Babb, Hoosier halfback, provided the spectacle of the game when, on the second play after his substitution, he raced 51 yards to put the ball within a few yards of the goal line. Jones plunged over. A fumble in the danger zone gave Northwestern its chance and Reb Russell carried the ball over.

Indiana 0, Purdue 19

DETERMINED to win back the Old Oaken Bucket they had lost the previous year, the Purdue Boilermakers gathered up steam and rumbled over the Crimson to the tune of 19-0. The Hoosiers held the Old Gold and Black scoreless during the first half, but the batterings inflicted in the recent games had a telling effect on the Crimson. Purvis opened the Purdue scoring by ripping off a 76-yard run. Moss, all-Conference end, added to his laurels and his team's score by blocking a punt and falling on it behind the goal line. Horstmann contributed the final 6-pointer. "Fighting Joe" Zeller was the outstanding Hoosier player.

Hoosier Reserves Battle Ohio State's "B" Team

The "B" Team

INDIANA'S reserve football team opened its 1931 campaign on October 3, with a game at South Bend against the Notre Dame reserves. The Crimson succeeded in leading at the half, 2-0, but the superior manpower of the Irish took toll in the second half and gave the Notre Dame eleven a 25-2 victory. The Hoosiers offered no alibis, but they possessed only one "B" team, while Notre Dame thought nothing of having five or six reserve teams on the bench for moral and physical support.

In its second appearance of the season, on October 17, the Hoosier "B" team was unable to check the pass-snaring ability of Fredenburg, Illinois end, and lost a 12-7 game to the Illini. Kneipple of Indiana scored the Crimson's touchdown.

On November 7 the Crimson reserves battled the strong Michigan scrubs in the stadium at Bloomington while the two varsity teams met each other at Ann Arbor. Although Indiana was outweighed they played to Wolverines to a draw, with the score ending at 6-6.

On the same day that the fighting Hoosier Varsity team gave Northwestern its biggest scare of the season at Evanston, a determined and defiant Hoosier "B" team played "heads-up" football against the Purple reserves on the Bloomington gridiron. The game, played on November 14, marked the end of the reserve team schedule for the 1931 season. The final result was a scoreless tie.

Freshman Football

COMPRISING one of the largest football squads to report at Indiana University, ninety-four freshmen answered the call for football players in September. Under the able direction of Wally Marks, all-American football player at Chicago University, and a staff of able assistants, a squad was quickly whipped into shape that rivaled the freshman team of 1930.

Much credit for the varsity's success during the season must be given the freshmen. for each week they were given the plays of the Crimson's opponents and presented them to the varsity in scrimmages. Several of the rhinies showed outstanding possibilities and will probably be included in the varsity lineup in 1932.

Freshmen awarded numeral sweaters were: Beeson, Bent, Best, Burton, Busbee, Chaffin, Crum, Ellenwood, Genisauski, Haney, Hanley, Holmquist, Jones, Kelley, Krajac, Kroeck, Major, Manalan, Mikaluski, Miller, Mooney, McNary, Napollile, Newhouse, Peters, Redding, Schoen, Shake, Shandy, Shaver, Sprauer, Staub, Veller, Vercuski, Viergiver, Wade, Walker, White, Yoder and Zoll.

Basketball Season

BASKETBALL at Indiana suffered a slight relapse during the 1931-32 season, principally because the Hoosiers were carded with the leaders of the Conference, which had the strongest teams in its history. Nasty injuries and colds were a constant worry to the Crimson and seemed to sap their strength in the last few minutes of a game and change the final score in many cases.

Miami University was dropped in the opening game, 24-18. Notre Dame's strong aggregation was dumped over by the Deanmen in their second battle by a 23-18 count. Pittsburgh was the next foe of the Hoosiers and robbed the Cream and Crimson of a Indiana opened its Conference season against the final winner, Purdue, in a free-shooting battle which ended in the Boilermakers' favor, 49-30. The next opponent was the 1931 champs, Northwestern, and although they were outshot, the wildcats emerged victors, 29-23.

In their first Conference home game, the Hoosiers swamped a gigantic Illinois team in the first part of the game, only to lose out, 30-22. The next game the Crimson trekked to Minnesota for a heated battle and the discouraging end of a 37-35 tally.

The Deanmen registered their first Conference win by taking Iowa into camp for a 35-27 count. Between semesters the Hoosiers defeated Marquette, 30-18, and St. Xavier, 18-16. Northwestern's snipers again clicked off another win on the local floor, 29-25.

Indiana again broke into the victory column, avenging an earlier loss to the Minnesota quintet with a 27-22 win. Two nights later the Hoosiers added another scalp to their belt by easily bowling over Wisconsin, 33-21.

Purdue stopped the winning streak, 42-29. Wisconsin retaliated with a 34-26 victory, and the season ended by dropping a heart-breaking game to Illinois, 33-32, on the Illini floor.

Indoor Track, 1931

INDIANA won their first Big Ten championship in track during the 1932 indoor season by nosing out Michigan at the title meet held at the University of Chicago. Henry Brocksmith led the Hoosiers to victory by breaking the Conference records in the mile and two-mile events. Individual championships were also won by Hornbostel in the 880-yard run, and Beecher in the pole vault. Divich, Neese, Fuqua and Watson were the other point scorers.

The Hoosier thinlies were undefeated in the meets preceding the Big Ten carnival, defeating Ohio State, Illinois and Purdue in dual meets and winning a pentagonal affair from Chicago, Minnesota, Northwestern and Purdue.

The Hayesmen also competed in two indoor relay meets. At the Armour Tech games the Indiana half-mile and mile teams won first places, and Hornbostel, Brocksmith and Beecher took honors in their specialties.

The four-mile and mile relay teams finished second and third, while Captain Hatfield and Watson copped third places in their events. The following week Coach Hayes sent Hatfield to the Penn relays to defend his title in the 120-yard high hurdles. The remainder of the team journeyed to Des Moines for the Drake relays. Hatfield was forced to concede his title in the high hurdles to Jack Kellar, but only after forcing the Ohio star to a new record of 14.7 seconds. At Des Moines Watson

Indiana showed well in the Ohio relays at Columbus. Biddinger placed third in the shot put and second in the Triathlon, which includes shot put, hammer throw and discus. Hatfield finished third in the high hurdles and the six Indiana relay teams all placed in their events, winning two seconds, two thirds and two fifths.

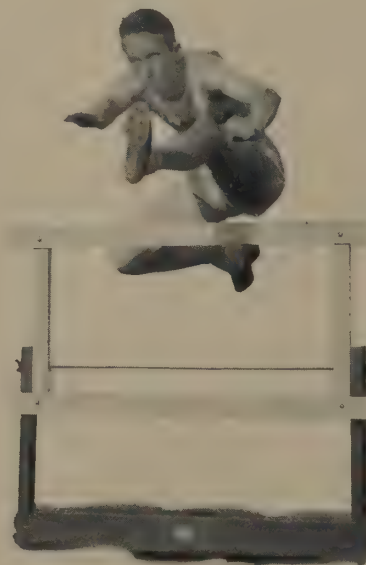

In the only outdoor meet at Bloomington, Indiana defeated Purdue and Illinois in a triangular battle. Indiana scored $80 \frac{2}{3}$ points to $76 \frac{1}{3}$ for Illinois and 13 for Purdue. Biddinger, high point man of

Cross Country, 1931

INDIANA UNIVERSITY'S predominance in intercollegiate cross country was continued through the 1931 season, as the Hoosier harriers scored grand slams in their three dual meets, won the Western Conference title for the fourth consecutive time, and climaxed the season by winning the National A. A. U. championship from a field of the best runners in the country.

Captain Henry Brocksmith won the individual title at the Big Ten meet, giving Indiana the honor for the second time in two years. Other members of the team who were awarded letters were Bob Kemp, Cliff Watson, Don Neese, Charles Hornbostel, Hugh Hunter and Pete Cuthbert. E. C. Hayes, who coached the championship teams of the three previous seasons, continued in an advisory capacity, although he was obliged to devote most of his time to football. Sid Robinson, who was a former pupil

The Boilermaker race was the only one run on the home course. Brocksmith led the field home against the Hawkeyes and Watson won first place in the Purdue and Ohio State chases.

The Conference race was run at Iowa City, where the Hoosiers scored a decisive victory. Wisconsin was second, Michigan third and Illinois fourth. Watson, Kemp, Hornbostel and Neese followed Brocksmith across the line for the winning points.

At Ypsilanti, in the National run, Indiana bested Michigan Normal, Michigan State and the best athletic club teams in the nation. Brocksmith was fourth to lead the Crimson runners, Watson, Hornbostel, Kemp and Neese were the other scorers.

A smoothly working mound staff led by Veller, Gatti and Wright, with Rea and Johnson behind the bat dominated the Hoosier defense, while May, Hickey and Rascher, a veteran outfield combination contributed the offensive punch necessary to chalk up the victories. The sophomore infield candidates improved steadily until Dross at second, Banka at short and Thomas at third, all lettermen, were forced to the bench on numerous occasions. Koenig, playing his first year on the varsity, held down the initial sack in exceptional style, while Dickey, another sophomore, relegated Dross to the sidelines during the latter part of the season. Hausmann, the third sophomore on the diamond, alternated with Banka in short field. Baer and Thomas admirably covered the third sack.

Indiana opened the Conference season by battling Northwestern to a 1-1 tie game in seven innings. Veller issued only two hits and fanned 14 Wildcats, while Dross blasted out a home run. Ohio State was the first Big Ten victim of Lefty's crafty hurling. The score was 4-2. Purdue, traditional rival of the Crimson, handed the Deanmen their second Conference victory, 3-1. Gatti's excellent relief pitching had the Boilermakers swinging for seven innings.

Michigan defeated Indiana, 4-0, on Jordan field, but the Crimson came back in the next game to wallop Purdue for the second time, 12-8. The Buckeyes evened the series by rapping the Hoosiers, 4-1, at Columbus. Fesler's homer with two on the paths broke up the contest.

Chicago delivered the most telling blow of the whole Conference season by dropping Indiana, 3-2, in both games of a double-header. "Iron Man" Henshaw, Maroon hurling marvel, pitched both games. May and Dickey led the Crimson offense. The Deanmen finished the season in great form by trouncing the Michigan Wolverines, 9-5.

Veller, Johnson, Thomas and Hickey, mainstays of the 1931 Hoosier nine, were lost through graduation.

Freshman Baseball, 1931

COACH PAUL HARRELL'S freshman baseball team played good ball throughout the short spring practice season. Each player was well schooled on fundamentals and the squad, as a whole, should furnish excellent varsity material.

Nichols and Gery, yearling hurlers, bolster the varsity mound staff weakened by the loss of Veller. Erdheim and Wright should capably fill Johnson's shoes, while Howorth, Long and Gross provide ample replacements in Hickey's absence.

COACH W. H. THOM'S Hoosier wrestling team won the National Collegiate and Western Conference team championships, one individual title at the national meet and four at the Conference carnival, and qualified 11 men for the final Olympic tryouts, in the most successful grappling season in Indiana University history.

The Thommen were undefeated in the dual meets preceding their successful defense of the Big Ten title. Co-captains Aldridge and George Belshaw led their teammates to victories over Cincinnati, West Virginia, Ohio State, Purdue, Michigan and Northwestern.

The Hoosier matmen proved themselves to be the class of the Big Ten by taking four firsts, three seconds, and one third in the championship meet, held at Indiana. Illinois won three first places and Northwestern one. Aldridge, defending champion in the 118-pound class, was forced to yield his title to Puerta of Illinois, but took second place. Indiana scored another second when Hawkins became runner-up in the 126-pound division. Ed Belshaw, captain in 1931, Goings, and George Belshaw won the 135-, 145-, and 155-pound championships, respectively. Voliva, a sophomore, was third among the 165-pounders and McDonald won runner-up honors in the 175-pound class. Jones, another sophomore and National A. A. U. champion in 1931, gave Riley of Northwestern the first defeat of his career to win the heavyweight title.

The National Collegiate meet was also a home engagement for the Crimson grapplers. The weight divisions were changed in this meet to conform with Olympic classifications. One first, two seconds and two thirds gave Indiana the championship, for the first time in history. Ed Belshaw won the 134-pound title and was voted by the coaches of the competing teams as the outstanding wrestler of the meet.

The seconds were scored by Goings in the 145-pound division and Jones in the 191-pound class. Rascher, 174 pounds, and Kuss, heavyweight, were responsible for the third places. The other Hoosiers competing were Hawkins, 123 pounds, and George Belshaw, 158 pounds. All the Indiana entrants qualified for the final Olympic trials, although the team was handicapped by unfamiliar rules, illness and injuries.

Four other Hoosier wrestlers qualified for the Olympic tryouts by placing at the Central A. A. U. meet at Chicago. Devine and Keckich won the 145-and 191-pound championships, respectively, and Cellini, 123 pounds, and Gillum, 174 pounds, were runners-up in their divisions.

No small amount of the credit for the success of the Indiana wrestlers must be given to Coach Thom, under whose tutelage the mat game has made a steady advance at Indiana, climaxed by the winning of two Western Conference team titles in as many years and national recognition for both team and individuals.

HOLDEMAN AND HUSTON, bulwarks of the University tennis squad, carried the Cream and Crimson to the final doubles match of the State Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament on May 21 at Richmond, though the team as a whole lost more than half of its matches during the season. They lost to the Indiana State Teachers doubles team after eliminating three other teams in straight sets.

Two matches were won from Ball State Teachers by scores of 9-0 and 8-1. Matches were lost to State Teachers, DePauw, Northwestern, Cincinnati, Michigan and Purdue, the score being close in several of the matches.

Holdeman, Huston, Rice, Herskovitz, Shimer, Cass, Foley and Zeller made up the squad which was coached by Ralph Esarey.

DESPITE THE FACT that Indiana's varsity swimming team entered the Conference race during the 1932 season unorganized and out of condition because of a year's enforced vacation due to a water shortage, the Hoosier tankmen improved steadily throughout the season with a smashing 59-16 victory over the Indianapolis Y. M. C. A. swimmers.

The squad was composed entirely of inexperienced men with the exception of Julius Coon, captain and free-style swimmer, and Charles Biedinger, diver, both lettermen. Despite steady improvement, however, they were unable to cope with the Powerful Ohio State, Illinois and Chicago teams which they met on consecutive week-ends. Indiana lost the first meet of the season to DePauw, 32-34.

Stanbro, Hammer and Marshall, regular members of this year's team, each have at least one year more of competition, while Highley, F. Williams and Purzcycki, promising freshmen, are expected to strengthen next season's tank team.

TOP-HEAVY SCORES characterized Indiana's six victories during the 1931 season. The closest match of the six was with the Purdue team, which was defeated, 13-5. Wins were registered over the State Teachers (twice), Purdue, Kentucky (twice) and DePauw squads. The only losses of the season were in close matches with the strong Ohio State and Northwestern squads.

The Indiana golfers placed third in the State Intercollegiate meet at Terre Haute; Talbot tying for third place in the individual competition. Cox, Greenwood, Harrell and Talbot bore the brunt of the season's play while Sharp, Grayston and Long took part in one match each. Joseph Greenwood, captain, acted as coach.

In the 1932 season Phil Talbot was appointed coach, and he began early to get his players into shape for their strenuous season with some of the best collegiate teams in the middle west.

THE PHI DELTA THETA thinlies amassed enough points to win the intramural indoor relay championship last spring, while Sigma Alpha Mu, Kappa Delta Rho and Alpha Tau Omega annexed league trophies. Playing steady ball behind the stellar pitching of Jack Hughes, Kappa Delta Rho clinched the league baseball crown to gain a firmer hold on the University championship. Theta Chi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Alpha Mu and the Celts won league cups. Sigma Chi triumphed in the soft ball title race, while Sigma Pi, Phi Delta Theta, Delta Chi and Beta Theta Pi took home emblems of league superiority. Duncan and Martin grabbed the University horseshoe doubles title from an exceptionally large field of entrants. Kappa Sigma, Sigma Pi, Phi Psi, Beta Theta Pi, Kappa Delta Rho and Delta Chi won league trophies. Jones, Dollen, Shoup and Lantz, unorganized, also won in their respective loops. The Delta Chi track and field representatives chalked up a total of 43 points to carry off first place and the University championship trophy in the outdoor meet held in Memorial Stadium last spring.

In the field of 22 teams, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Theta Chi each collected 35 points to tie for runner-up honors, while Kappa Delta Rho and Delta Tau Delta were fourth and fifth, respectively. Sigma Pi and Beta Theta Pi tied for sixth place in the meet.

By winning championships in three sports, Kappa Delta Rho easily annexed the intramural sports trophy for the 1930-31 season with a total of 745½ points. Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Alpha Mu and Alpha Tau Omega finished neck-and-neck for runner-up position with 729- 727 and 721 points, respectively.

Sigma Phi Epsilon opened the 1931-32 intramural season by winning the annual cross-country classic. Phi Kappa Psi triumphed over a big field to win the fall tennis doubles tournament. By edging out Phi Psi, 11-10, in the titular game, Beta Theta Pi took the speedball championship of the University.

Kappa Delta Rho began the defense of its title with a championship in "A" league and a second in "B" league volleyball. Sigma Chi triumphed in the "B" league. Sigma Alpha Epsilon smashed through a fast field to win the basketball crown with a close victory over Phi Delta Delta. An unorganized team, the 411 Club, nabbed the intramural wrestling crown.

Law-Medic Football Game

THE 1931 REVIVAL of the ancient Law-Medic gridiron feud before a large crowd the morning of the Homecoming added another 6-6 tie to the long list of no-decision battles. Led by Jasper, the Laws appeared to have an advantage in both defense and offense throughout the initial half, but the Medics rallied in the last quarter to snatch a fumbled ball and score on a line plunge. Superior line-crashing by the Law backfield put the ball deep into enemy territory, where Jasper snagged a long pass behind the goal line to score. The kick from placement failed. The break came when an alert Medic gridman fell on a fumble. Bechtold, an Indianapolis Medic importation, plunged over for the tying touchdown, but the placement failed.

Archery

Women students at Indiana University have a variety of sports offered to them from which they may select the ones they prefer for their work in the Physical Education department. These sports vary with the season. In the fall, spectators may witness games of hockey, soccer, volleyball and natural dancing in Dunn Meadow, while on the courts games of tennis or rounds of archery are in progress.

The winter season finds Indiana's favorite sport, basketball, among the coed's activities. Keen games among the sororities and the out-of-town groups make this sport the best liked of all. After the omission of swimming from the calendar last year, due to the shortage of water, the coeds welcomed the sport this year with night classes in the men's gymnasium along with the regular swimming classes in the Student building.

The first warm day of spring finds our active coeds again on Dunn Meadow indulging in such sports as archery, tennis, quoits, deck tennis, and natural dancing. Swimming is continued in the spring and golf is added to the list. Those who sign up in the latter

At the end of the season a May festival is given by the students of the dancing classes, and to close the entire year's activities, W. A. At that time, also, medals are awarded, teams announced, and a cup is presented to the intramural winner.

The 1932 Arbutus

THE 1932 ARBUTUS has been compiled with the hope of maintaining high standards of past editions. An efficient staff of 31 students has worked for the past school year to produce this volume. These staff members included artists and editorial and business assistants.

An effort has also been made by this year's staff to get away from the stereotyped pattern of books of the past few years, to produce a book which was not only up to the high standard which had been set, but which at the same time was somewhat different. With this end in view, numerous new features were introduced into the 1932 Arbutus.

The art theme chosen for the book is "The Golden Age of Greece" and it has been the editor's purpose to compare that epoch with the dawn of a similar age at Indiana. This is the first time that all of the black and white art work in the book has been of student creation. These sub-division pages are all the work of undergraduates.

The beauty section, which has been missing in Indiana annuals for several years, was again included this year. This Arbutus is also the first to include pictures of the pledge pins of the social organizations. Faculty members are for the first time listed under both social and honorary societies. Some changes in the order and method of presentation of the several divisions of the book have been made.

The Daily Student

PUBLISHED five days a week throughout the school year by the students of the Journalism department, the Indiana Daily Student provides the students and faculty of the University with the very latest in news of the world and the campus. Regular editions of the paper contain six pages, while special editions are published for such occasions as the holiday season, dedication ceremonies, and Commencement.

The Daily Student is a member of the Associated Press, and through the installation last year of an A. T. and T. printer-telegraph service, is able to provide the students of the University with all current news stories. The Student also includes news and pictures provided through the Associated Press feature services.

Besides providing the campus with the latest information regarding campus activities and town news, the Daily Student, through a canvass of organization houses and through profits gained from a benefit dance, has raised in the proximity of $400 each Christmas for the relief of the poor people in the city of Bloomington.

Thorough training in all departments of the daily newspaper are offered students who seek positions on the Daily Student, and they are required to do work in various positions.

At the end of the first semester each year the annual Swing-Out-Swing-In party is held, at which time the old staff turns over its duties to the members of the new staff. President William Lowe Bryan was in attendance at the 1932 party and gave a short address to the incoming journalists. The traditional party is sponsored by W. L. THE BORED WALK is Indiana University's popular periodical humor publication. It appears eight times during the school year and is entirely a student production. The first issue was published January, 1931, and since that time has grown from an amateur magazine to one of professional merit, ranking now with the best college magazines in the United States. An exchange conducted with similar magazines of high rating enables the Bored Walk to reprint the best humor and drawings from other colleges. Bernard Nordberg edited the magazine this year. "PLEASE send information—." This is the never-ending job of the Publicity Office. Information for newspapers, not only throughout Indiana but all the way to Tokio. Information for magazines. Information for bulletins and other publications. Information to be used in paid advertising on Indiana sports, dramatics, music and whatnot. Information for posters. Information for exhibits. Information by mail, by telephone, by telegraph, and in personal conferences. Information of a thousand and one kinds for a thousand and one uses.

Interpreting Indiana University to its owners, the people, so that they may make the best use of it, is the job of the Publicity Office. Just as advertising is said to be the life of trade, so publicity and advertising may be thought of as giving new life to a university. Mere possession of educational facilities is not a virtue, but only through interpretation and constant use do these facilities become valuable. The business of educational publicity is to help give Indiana University increasing value to the state.

Frank R. Elliot has been the organizer and director of the University's publicity program for over ten years. Serving with him are Miss Henrietta Thornton, secretary; Miss Sylvia Jenkin, office assistant, and John Sembower, part-time news writer.

Jordan River Review

ENTHUSIASTIC campus audiences greeted the presentation of the Jordan River Revue, April 12, 13 and 14, in Assembly Hall. Martha Temples and Fred Sims took the leading roles, supported by an able cast of Charlotte Hodell, Robert Mayes, Catharine Ryall and Richard Bixby.

Choruses, outstanding in their tricky steps and attractive costumes, were an outstanding feature of the production, while Margaret Morgan deserves much credit for the training of these choruses. The comedy parts were well played by Lloyd Griffin and Sarah Ann Matthews.

The eleventh annual presentation of the campus production was directed by Charles Dant, who with his orchestra furnished the music for the choruses and solo numbers. The script was written by Charlotte Hodell.

Garrick Gaieties

THETA ALPHA PHI, the director, and the cast of the show presented a true panacea for "Old Man Depression" in their three acts of Garrick Gaieties.

The last act depicted a very clever show at the "Club Optimist," while the grand finale dispelled all traces of gloom and gave an opportunity for exploiting an unusually fine array of campus talent. Tommy Noel, Robert Tross and Martha Temples, the trio composed of Helen Siefert, Cordelia Poulton and Sue Adams; and Dora and Dorothy Wright, dancers, were the individual stars with the audience.

Men's Debate Squad

THE VARSITY debating squad, consisting of fourteen men, met strong opposition from seven other universities and colleges this year. The international debate with Oxford University of England was the feature of the season. Other opponents were Illinois, Wisconsin, Murray State Teachers, Northwestern, Minnesota and Yale. The freshman team debated against representatives from DePauw in their only contest. Both teams spoke on a number of important and timely subjects during the season.

Coed and Intramural Debate

THE COED DEBATING TEAM was undefeated this year, winning decisions over Illinois and Michigan. The subject for debate during the season was the proposed freedom for India. Phi Delta Gamma, honorary forensic fraternity, sponsored the series of intramural debates in 1931 for the Neizer trophies. Delta Upsilon, represented by George Pepple and Arthur Osburn, won the fraternity division, and Zeta Tau Alpha, represented by Mildred Garrety and Fay Kemmering, won the sorority division.

Dramatics

A NOTABLY INCREASED interest in dramatics was evinced on the campus this year, as evidenced by added class enrollment and the more professional and serious character of the plays undertaken. These productions were principally tragic-dramatic offerings. The success which they met with faculty and students alike is attributed not only to the excellent performances of the actors participating, but to Prof. Lee R. Norvelle, who has gained national attention in his writing for "Queue," national honorary magazine; to Prof. E. G. Frazier, and to the assistant coaches, Dee Thompson and Robert Masters. Miss Thompson has returned to the staff of the dramatic department after a year's study at the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

"Convention Go Hang," a modern farce-comedy of family life, was written by two outstanding campus dramatists, Lillian Decker and Robert Masters, and was given May 22 and 23 of last year. The play received wide acclaim for its originality and clever handling of the Blair-family-problem plot, wherein the solution of skilfully

"The Show-Off," by George Kelly, was presented during the summer and by popular demand was repeated on October 30, for Homecoming. The principal role was portrayed by Mrs. Kate Rutherford, supported by Robert Masters, Sarah Ann Matthews, Katherine Young and Ned LeFevre.

Leonid Andreyev's "He Who Gets Slapped" created much interest and discussion from faculty and students, due to its extraordinary lighting and costuming effects. This production on December 8, 9 and 10 was conceded to be the most difficult play attempted; its innovation of Wednesday matinee performances continued successfully during the winter series.

A convocation play by Kenneth Goodman, "Dust of the Road," was presented on December 18.

Henry James Smith's realistic three-act comedy, "Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh" used double casts in its three-day run on March 8, 9 and 10. The two casts consisted of Doris Scripture, Elsinor Funk, Sarah Ann Matthews, Marian Gaber, Verlin Stephens, Foster Harmon, William Hancock, Ned LeFevre, Mrs. Gladys Fewell, Selma Drabing, Harriet Williams, Dorothy Buzzaird, Julia Perry, Marjorie Horn, Hilton Ballenger, Lloyd Griffin and Tom O'Haver. Robert Masters directed.

To celebrate the George Washington bicentennial, "Vindicated" was given by Theta Alpha Phi at various times under the auspices of patriotic organizations.

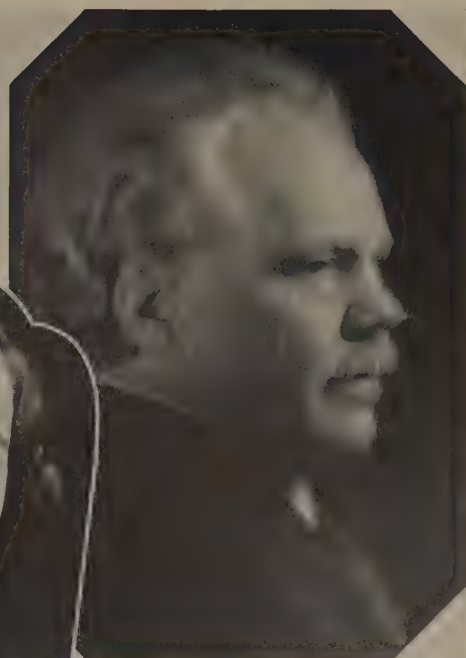

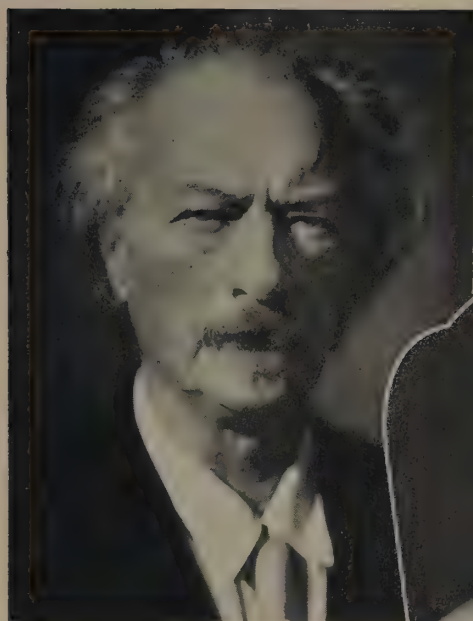

For the first time on this campus the division of speech gave an Ibsen tragedy, "Hedda Gabler," an extremely finished and intense performance, directed by Dee Thompson and produced by Prof. Lee Norvelle. Parts were carried by Mary DeSchipper, Dorothy Buzzaird, Cliff Line, Richard Bixby, Margaret Morgan, Margaret Sutphin, Robert Mayes and Robert Hahn.

Prof. E. G. Frazier's play-acting class presented two one-act plays, "Suppressed Desires" and "Dreamy Kid," by Eugene O'Neill, on December 19. Members taking parts in these plays were Susie Lee Trueman, Helen Stone, Mildred Maley, Keith Johnson, Pauline Brown, William Lyons and Elsie Cooper.

Convocation Speakers

FROM ADVENTURER to scholar, from an officer in the Marines to a religious authority, the convocation schedule for the year 1931-1932 presented men of diversified talents and interests.

Bishop Francis J. McConnell, Methodist leader, opened the year's convocation schedule September 16 with his talk, "Signs of the Times."

Called "the stick of human dynamite," General Smedley D. Butler, of the United States Marines, told of his varied and colorful life in a fiery lecture, December 9, at convocation. The British author and lecturer, John Langdon-Davies, was a convocation speaker on February 17 who was of interest to both faculty and students. From Dr. Allan D. Alburt, official of the 1933 World's Fair in Chicago, university students learned of the relation of the sciences to the international exposition, at convocation January 14. Adventurer and explorer, Dr. Lawrence "Larry" Gould, second in command of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition, told of his experiences in an illustrated lecture November 5.

The place of religion in the modern world was the theme of the lecture of Dr. Lewis Browne, noted British author and religious authority, at convo November 19. The buried cities of ancient Yucatan were unearthed before the eyes of Indiana University students October 21 in a vivid lecture by Edward Thompson, noted archæologist. Matrix Table was the occasion which brought Mrs. Margaret Ayer Barnes, nationally known author and winner of the 1930 Pulitzer prize, to speak on this campus.

Of special interest because of the present Chinese-Japanese situation was Upton Close's lecture, March 9, on "The Revolt of Asia." Indiana University paused to observe the one hundredth anniversary of the death of Goethe, at convo March 16, when Prof. Alexander R. Hohfeld, of the University of Wisconsin, spoke on "The Spirit of Goethe and the World Today." Plants and animals of the South Seas flourished on the screen before a large audience when Dr. Arthur C. Pillsbury spoke February 3.

The R. O. T. C.

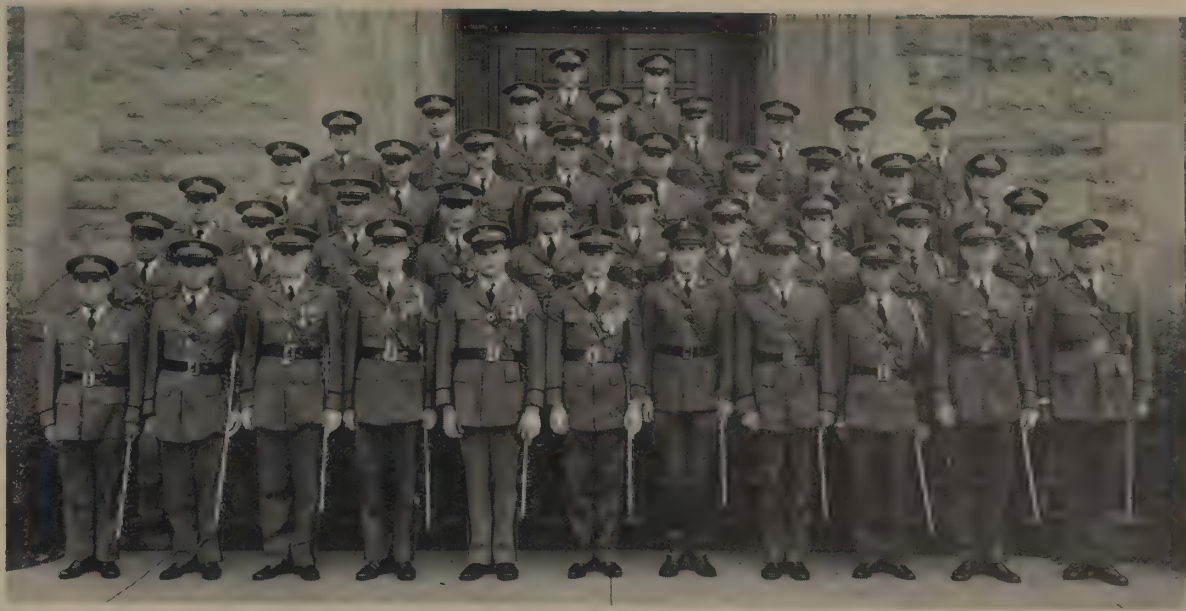

FOR THE SECOND consecutive year the Indiana University military unit was awarded the "gold star" rating, emblematic of its ranking among the finest of the university R. O. T. C. units in the United States. The rating was based upon the results of a two-day inspection of the unit conducted in the spring of 1931 by government army officers. Approximately 900 men are enrolled in both the advanced and basic courses which are under the command of Col. O. P. Robinson, D. O. L., United States Army.

MEDALS AND RIBBONS are awarded members of the unit for attendance, personal appearance and ability in drill, while the "Tin Mug," literally worth its weight in gold, because of the many engraved plates upon it, was won the first semester by Delta Tau Delta for the largest enrollment in the advanced course, while Phi Delta Theta, Delta Tau Delta and Gamma Eta Gamma tied for the trophy the second semester.

Courtney C. Boone served as cadet-colonel and C. L. Biedinger, cadet lieutenant-colonel during the first semester, while William T. Hornaday acted as cadet-colonel for the second semester and William A. Downs as cadet lieutenant-colonel. The Military Ball and the social events of Scabbard and Blade and of Pershing Rifles were sponsored by the Military department.

THE QUOTA in the advanced course for upperclassmen during the past year was exceeded for the first time in the history of the University. Indiana is one of the two schools in the country which presents graduating officers with new uniforms. These men receive commissions as second lieutenants in the Reserve Officers Corps.

Compulsory enrollment in the basic course is required of all physically fit freshmen and sophomores, while the advanced grades are optional, those enrolled receiving government pay.

The School of Music

MORE THAN 450 University students were enrolled this year in courses in the School of Music, including the orchestra, mixed chorus, girls' and men's glee clubs, string ensemble and classwork. These organizations together with the Music Activities Series come under the jurisdiction of B. Winfred Merrill, dean of the school.

This year's music activities have been varied. Convocation concerts were presented by Prof. Ernest Hoffzimmer, pianist; Miss Winifred Merrill, violinist; Prof. Lennart von Zweyberg, cellist, assisted by Prof. Hoffzimmer, and the Purdue University Concert Band.

The orchestra, under the direction of Dean Merrill, has a personnel of forty-five students, townspeople and faculty. It presented one convocation program, March 30.

"The Messiah," Handel's famous oratorio, was presented December 6 in Assembly Hall by the mixed chorus of 150 voices under the direction of Prof. Edward B. Birge. Membership in the chorus is required by all majors in Public School Music.

The Girls' Glee Club, composed of forty-four voices, selected and directed by Prof. John L. Geiger, made only one public appearance on the campus this year. Professor Geiger presented the club in a formal recital of Wagner's works and modern compositions, which was given in April in Commerce Hall. The club also provided music for the commencement exercises of the Unionville High School, April 26.

The Men's Glee Club is directed by Prof. D. D. Nye. This organization presented a concert for convocation, January 20.

A program of classical music and vaudeville was presented here November 6 by Bohumir Kryl and his band. Kryl is famous for his ability to play two full octaves lower than any other living cornetist, and is one of the world's most celebrated band-masters of the present day.

Madrigals, ballets and old folk tunes of England comprised the concert sung by the English Singers from London, December 4. Unusual to custom, the sextet sat informally about a table while they gave their entertainment of song.

The Irish Players, a company of fourteen "all-stars" from the Abbey Theatre in Dublin, presented Lennox Robinson's comedies, "The White-Headed Boy" and "The Far-Off Hills" here December 16 and 17.

Eugene Ormandy merited the praise of being a genius among young conductors of today when he conducted the concert of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra here February 17. This is Ormandy's first season with the symphony. He succeeded Henri Verbrugghen, who became incapacitated to continue his services as director.

As the last number on the Music Activities Series, Paderewski, world-famous musician and statesman, presented a piano concert here March 16. An audience of 3500 arose in acknowledgement of its respect to this renowned personage.

Percy Pledgepin

PERCY PLEDGEPIN was a very fine fella. The Sigma Nus got him first and after showing him their well-thumbed plans for a new house, pledged him. The Phi Gams knew he'd always wanted to be a cop, so they sold him on the idea of the star for a lapel button. When he stopped in front of the A. T. O. house to listen to the front porch graphophone, he was blackjacked and when he came to, he had on the A. T. O. gadget. The Acacias tackled him on the adjoining miniature golf course, and when they left his inert body in a sandtrap, the Phi Beta Deltas slipped over and hung on their insignia. The S. A. M.s spirited him away and won him because of all their athletic managers. Kappa Delta Rho caught his eye with I-M trophies, but the Lambda Chis soon changed his mind with some punishing wrestling holds. He acquiesced next to the lulling tunes of all the Kappa Sig musicians, but just couldn't resist the Betas' serenade and hotel lobby. The Phi Psis sucked him in by dangling before him their social calendar, but the D. U.s locked him up till he took their lodge jewelry. A training table diet for athletes only was too much for him at the Sig Pi House. The Theta Chis tied him to a tree and the Delta Chis were going to drown him in Jordan River, but the S. A. E.s later got him by a gypsy dance. The Delts patted him on the back and purred politics till he gave in and the Sig Chis had him until an explosion in the basement scared him away, then the S. P. E.s enticed him in because they were near the new Union Building. Tired and weary, he thought he had made the rounds until the Phi Delts came to town. One trip to their rural estate and back was enough, so he moved into South Hall.

Ruthie Rushee

RUTHIE RUSHEE accepted all her bids. The Delta Gammas put a pin in her pocket when she was attracted by all the Prom Queens they had had. She switched to the Z. T. A.s because they had so many journalists, but later succumbed to the dorm tactics of the Alpha Chis. The tales of Southern potentiality won her to Chi Omega, the Phi Mus then dazzled her with their athletic achievements, but she ended up her Quad pledging by selecting Sigma Kappa because it was next to the S. A. E. house. The Thetas held her for a while with their bowery dance, but Kappa Delta had such a spiffy sunken garden. Their raciness combined with a bouquet of roses won her to the Pi Phis. The talk of the meals made her go P. O. P., but she quit cold when she was served spinach. She was entranced by the Alpha O. fish pond, but liked better the way the Delta Zetas turned out for serenades. The Beta Sigma Omicrons had her for a few hours with their scholarship record, but she changed her mind to Alpha Delta Pi because they served tea in such darling cups. The Delta Delta Deltas had her for good with their swanky new house, until she forgot about the step-off in the front room when she ran in late one night. Although she didn't break any bones, she broke her pledge and moved into the Kappa house until she found out they had a pianist who practiced four hours a day and some of the girls poked doubtful fun at her boy friend's picture. Finally she changed her address to Memorial Hall, since they had such a nice woods in the rear.

Union Board

THE UNION BOARD, executive committee of the Indiana Union, of which every male student enrolled in the University is a member, conducts many campus enterprises in addition to furthering student control at Indiana.

By serving as the governing body in determining the policies of the new Indiana Memorial Union, sponsoring open dances, pep sessions, aiding in entertaining University guests and directing other varied interests, the Board forms one of the most active groups on the campus. The Union is governed by the board of nine student directors, four student officers, a member of the board of trustees and the Alumni secretary.

ALPHA LAMBDA DELTA, national honorary scholastic fraternity for freshman women, is among the honoraries which exert a strong influence on the campus. The requirements for membership include a 'B' average. The purpose is to encourage scholastic endeavor among freshman women and the maintenance of this standard among upper-classwomen. The Indiana chapter is only a few years old on this campus but it already holds an enviable position among similar organizations. Six members were pledged in the fall semester and thirty freshmen attained the necessary scholastic requirements at the end of the first semester.

Pershing Rifles

FOUNDED more than a decade ago at the University of Nebraska by General John J. Pershing, Pershing Rifles, a national honorary military fraternity for men enrolled in the basic courses of R. O. T. C., was chartered at Indiana University in 1929. One year later headquarters for the First Regiment was established here.

Pershing Rifles is a crack drill unit for freshmen and sophomores in military courses who wish additional training in drill formations and tactics. Each spring the local unit enters the competitive drill against other companies of the First Regiment.

Sigma Delta Chi

THE MEMBERS of Sigma Delta Chi, international professional journalistic fraternity, are upperclassmen chosen because of their merit in journalism. Among the social activities of the organization is the Blanket Hop, which is held at the end of the football season, to secure funds to purchase "I" blankets for the graduating "I" men. The Sigma Delta Chi scholarship of $200 given to the outstanding freshman in the journalism department at the beginning of his sophomore year was awarded this year to Preston Calvert.

Phi Delta Kappa

PHI DELTA KAPPA evolved out of the consolidation of three independent organizations all organized as fraternities devoted to the cause of education, one of which was Pi Kappa Mu, organized at Indiana in 1906. Representatives of these societies met at Indianapolis in 1910 and effected the consolidation, designating the Indiana group as the Alpha chapter. The fraternity is distinctly professional in character. It is devoted to research service and leadership in education. Outstanding scholarship is a major qualification for membership.

Herophilus in His Laboratory

Medical School

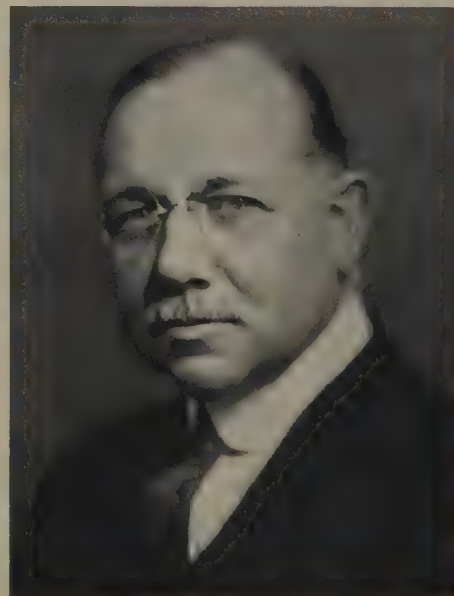

Dr. Willis D. Gatch
Acting Dean

DR. WILLIS D. GATCH, Acting Dean of the Indiana University School of Medicine since 1931 and Professor of Surgery since 1911, received his A.B. degree from Indiana and his M.D. degree from Johns Hopkins University. Formerly, he was Resident Surgeon of Johns Hopkins and Washington University Hospitals. Dr. Gatch is one of the leading surgeons in America, and his name and influence have played vital factors in the rise of Indiana University School of Medicine.

It is ONLY fitting and proper that the Medical Section of the Arbutus be dedicated to our Acting Dean, Dr. Willis D. Gatch. His role of Acting Dean this year has been a pleasant one and because of our profound respect, admiration of his ability, and appreciation of his services to us, we dedicate the Medical Section of the Arbutus to Dr. Willis D. Gatch.

DR. CHARLES P. EMERSON, Dean of the Indiana University School of Medicine since 1911, came here from Johns Hopkins University, where he was Professor of Medicine. Dr. Emerson is one of the leading internists of the country and has been an important factor in the rise of Indiana University School of Medicine to its present high status. At present he is on a year's leave of absence in the Orient with the Laymen's Foreign Missions Inquiry Commission.

Senior Surgery Clinic

Indiana University Medical Center

THE INDIANA UNIVERSITY MEDICAL CENTER has shown a phenomenal expansion since its inception about seventeen years ago. The Center, including the Robert W. Long, William H. Coleman, James Whitcomb Riley, Rotarian Convalescent Home for Children Hospitals, the Ball Nurses' Homes, and the School of Medicine today stand forth as one of the leading educational centers in America. The Rotarian Convalescent Unit, dedicated on November 15, 1931, is a beautiful brick building adjacent to Riley

Central Laboratory

Robert Long Hospital

Hospital. The Home is for those children with chronic difficulties requiring careful supervision. All the above units are connected through underground subways.

The University Hospitals are teaching hospitals in which the students serve as clinical ward clerks in their Junior and Senior years. The Indianapolis City Hospital offers a clinical paradise to Juniors and Seniors. Daily clinics are held on the wards and in Bobbs and City Free Dispensary wherein the student sees hundreds of medical and surgical cases.

James Whitcomb Riley Hospital for Children

Coleman Hospital for Women

The Medical School is fortunate to be able to offer Senior Medics and Senior Nurses a full practical course in Clinical Psychiatry under Dr. Max A. Bahr at Central State Hospital. An abundance of cases are presented that cover the aspects of mental and nervous diseases.

The small laboratories scattered throughout the Medical Center were combined last August into a large, finely equipped laboratory called Central Laboratory, located in the Medical School. Central Laboratory is under the direction of Dr. Clyde G. Culbertson and a corps of skilled technicians.

The Medical School Library has done more than keep pace with the expansion of the Medical Center. In the past six years it has more than quintupled its volume number and the use of the library has increased ten-fold. This library, which is in charge of Mr. Hendricks, harbors the outstanding journals and textbooks in America and in foreign lands.

Senior Class

The business administration of the Medical Center is directed by Dr. E. T. Thompson. Dr. Thompson is assisted by Mr. Edward Rowlands in the administration of the Center that he has so ably directed.

The School of Medicine is strictly a Hoosier institution and its faculty is composed almost entirely of Indiana men who enjoy excellent professional reputation.

The Dietary Department

Dietary Department

THE DIETARY DEPARTMENT of Indiana University Hospitals has grown to be an extensive unit and functions in many capacities. The various divisions of the department, namely: administrative, therapeutic, clinical and educational, are supervised by members of the staff. During the last two years, courses in nutrition contributing towards a Master of Science degree have been offered through the Home Economics Department of Indiana University. Student dietitians from several states have been enrolled.

Indianapolis City Hospital

Out-Patient Department of City Hospital

THE OUT-PATIENT DEPARTMENT of the City Hospital, which is under the administration of the Indianapolis City Board of Health, is truly a department of Indiana University School of Medicine, in its operation and in the facilities afforded for teaching and for clinical demonstration. It is now housed in an entirely new building, which was completed and occupied about one year ago. It was designed, arranged and equipped with the idea constantly in mind of its use as a teaching clinic. The physical plant is considered second to none in the country.

Eleven thousand new patients were admitted for care during the past year, and there were seventy thousand admissions of former patients for medical attention during the course of the year. With this enormous number of admissions, almost every possible pathological condition is met with. What valuable clinical experience this affords for the student can readily be seen.

Here the sections of students from the Junior Class see the patients, take the histories, make the physical examinations, perform many of the laboratory tests, prescribe treatment, and often administer treatment, under the careful supervision of the clinical teachers. Here the student meets with conditions more nearly resembling those of private practice than he does in the usual bedside clinic of a hospital.

George Easton

GEORGE EASTON, age 29, would have been a graduating senior this year if death had not terminated a promising career in his freshman medical year on March 11, 1929. He was a member of Phi Rho Sigma medical fraternity and Kappa Sigma social fraternity. George was one of the most popular men of his school and class, and his death is still keenly felt.

Nurses Training

Miss Josephine Hull
Acting Director

THE TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES is associated with the School of Medicine. It offers a three-year course leading to the Degree of Graduate Nurse, but students who have previously completed three full years of work in a recognized college are permitted to shorten this course by eight months. The course of study includes instruction and laboratory work given by various instructors of the School of Medicine. Students obtain a thorough experience in practice of nursing on the wards of the Long, Riley and Coleman Hospitals.

Ball Nurses' Home

Senior Class

THE BALL RESIDENCE FOR NURSES, completed in 1928 at a cost of $500,000, was a gift of the Ball Brothers of Muncie, Indiana. It provides a comfortable and very attractive home for 165 nurses. Classrooms, laboratories and instructors' offices are located in this building. At either end of each floor there is a sitting room, a kitchenette and a laundry, with a gymnasium and recreation room on the fourth floor. With funds raised by the nurses, three tennis courts have recently been constructed beside the residence.

Dr. F. R. Henshaw
Dean of Dental School

The Dental School

IT IS DULY APPROPRIATE that we dedicate the dental section of the Arbutus to Dean Henshaw in appreciation of his untiring efforts in the uplifting of the dental profession and in inculcating in the minds of the students its high standards.

In the program for the development of the Indiana University Health Center the President and Trustees have very wisely provided for a modern building for the Dental School, which is to be erected close to the hospitals and Medical School and will provide every facility for proper dental education. Ample space will be provided to accommodate research work in dental health problems and not only the normal demands for dental clinic service but also the needs of a very large number of children from the Riley Hospital. It is hoped that the new building will be completed and ready for occupancy by September, 1933.

Sojourner's Club

AMONG THE organizations of the school is the Sojourners' Club. It is an organization of Masons. Having something in common, they bond themselves together with a fraternal feeling.

Mary O. Payne

THE ARBUTUS STAFF at this time wishes to acknowledge the excellent and invaluable assistance it has received from Mr. Dwight Sinclair, Miss Mary Payne and Mr. Cecil Robinson of the Sinclair Studios; also Mr. John Bookwalter, Mr. Fred Parker and Mr. Frank Hilgemeier of the Bookwalter-Ball-Greathouse Printing Co. of Indianapolis; and Mr. Charles T. Hoy, Mr. E. W. Hill, Mr. L. D. Rambeau and Mr. A. E. Gage, Jr., of the Jahn-Ollier Engraving Co. of Chicago, Ill. Scores of friends, aside from the staff members themselves, have kindly assisted in the production of this book. Appreciation is herewith given to Miss Henrietta Thornton and Miss Sylvia Jenkin of the Publicity Office; to Mr. James R. McCoy of the Century Paper Co. of Indianapolis; Mr. A. A. Lubersky of the S. K. Smith Cover Co. of Chicago, Illinois; to Miss Harneson who has charge of the morgue for all Arbutus plates and cuts at Maxwell Hall; to Miss Ruth J. McNutt, secretary to President Bryan; and especially to all the members of the Bursar's and Registrar's offices who have so kindly co-operated with the Arbutus editorial and business staffs upon every occasion. Too much praise cannot be given to Prof. Robert E. Burke and Mr. Harry Engel of the Fine Arts Department for their time and advice concerning artistic arrangement and composition of the black and white illustrations of this book. Prof. Tilden, of the Greek department deserves abundant praise for his advice on points of Grecian history, as well as Dr. Henry H. Carter for his advice on matters of rhetoric and style.

John H. Bookwalter

Charles T. Hoy

The Arbutus staff urgently request the students to patronize the following merchants who have aided this 1932 Arbutus.

FOR YEARS the Arbutus has received an All-American rating in competition with the best College and University year books in the United States.

Primarily, the excellence of these books depends largely upon the quality of the pictures which go into them. Good engraving and good printing, can be done only from good photography.

For eight years this Studio has done the photographic work for the Arbutus and bears the endorsement of all the

Engravers and Printers who have participated in the building of these books.

Worth the Difference

To you, young man, about to start your professional career, the choice of dental equipment is a matter to be carefully considered. You will want equipment that is modern in design, utility and construction; equipment that will save you many tiring steps and needless effort; equipment that will convince your patients that you are capable and progressive.

Don't handicap yourself at the start with poor equipment. Take advantage of Ritter's forty-two years of experience . . . compare the values and you will see why Ritter is Worth the Difference! Ritter Dental Mfg. Co., Inc., Rochester, New York.

RITTER

Successful Dentists Prefer American Dental Cabinets

A careful tabulation of the successful dentists in the U.S.A. shows that they prefer American Dental Cabinets. In the 450 Sutter Bldg., San Francisco, there are 202 Dentists and 210 American Dental Cabinets.

In the Marshal Field Annex, Chicago, there are 300 Dentists and 450 American Dental Cabinets. The Pittsfield Bldg. has 225 Dentists and 300 American Cabinets.

Our goods may be purchased from the dealer in combination with chair, engine, etc., and in fact a complete outfit, on one contract, on easy monthly payments. We will exhibit our cabinets in your city and hope to see every member of the senior class.

Always years ahead of the nearest competitor, American Cabinets are sometimes copied, but never equaled.

Albeit fine feathers do not necessarily make fine birds, or clothes the man, an impressive showing is a valuable asset. The environment into which you invite your patients, subtly tells whether or not you are progressive and successful.

There are three factors of prime importance in the success of a dental practice. The first can be considered as knowledge, skill, and experience; the second as personality; the third, environment. Knowledge and training should of course be the deciding factors in judging a dentist's ability.

Unfortunately these are too often judged last by patients. They estimate a man's ability first by his surroundings, then by his personality, his skill and training last. Fair or unfair, this method of mass approval is nevertheless a fact.

S. S. White Equipment will make your office a modern operating room. It is graceful, dignified, will impart the proper atmosphere, and give a uniformly dependable service. The Unit brings the automatically warmed sprays, the mouth and antrum lamps, cauteries, warm air syringe and cut-off with graduated air pressures, and thermal instruments, close to the field of operation for comfortable and efficient operating.

It will extend the limits of your services and certainly make your time mean more dollars for the hour.

A CDX Dental X-Ray Unit---you will need one in your new office.

LEADERS in the dental profession have their own x-ray units. They find that making their own radiographs enables them to spend their time more profitably and speeds their work with greater efficiency and accuracy. The fact that many of these have chosen the CDX Dental X-Ray Unit evidences its superiority.

The CDX Dental X-Ray Unit hangs suspended from the wall. It is 100% electrically safe. You and your patient can touch the CDX while in operation without any danger of shock.

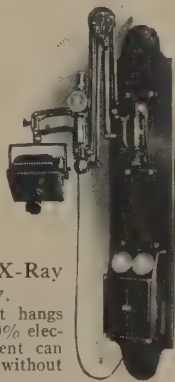

And owning a CDX is not an expense. Our liberal monthly payment plan will enable you to pay each monthly installment from the revenues derived and still have a profit. In starting out you cannot afford to be without this important tool of your profession. Write for full information.

THE SUN has set upon the work of the nineteen hundred and thirty-two Arbutus, but this twilight is only the forerunner of the glorious dawn that is to follow—a dawn of a greater Indiana disclosing a university approaching the glory of the Golden Age of Greece which has been portrayed in the art theme of this volume. This university's advance in its material features must not and shall not eclipse its mental and spiritual development. Fortunately the school is blessed with a faculty who realize that students must be given something more than a mere trade or profession which may fortify them against the world. Culture, social consciousness, humanism, and sound character are of greater importance than the mere knowledge enabling one to gain a livelihood. These graduates shall take their places in a world that has given them far more than they may ever be able to repay.

Youth has ever viewed provincialism, mediocrity, and smugness with disapproval, and may it ever do this, so long as the trend is upward and not downward; so long as it is forward and not backward. The hope of the world lies with such youth and their development is, after all, the true criterion of the university's worth.
